Why Chose Nuffield Health Virtual GP service?

Reduce absenteeism. Increase access to care.

With easier access to a UK-trained GP, quicker and more convenient than ever before, your employees will be able to fit their GP appointments around their work and lifestyle commitments. No more needing to take hard-earned holiday leave purely to address health concerns – or putting them off altogether due to work commitments.

Build employee satisfaction. Increase productivity.

By providing a truly valued benefit, you can increase employee satisfaction and support your workforce to take proactive action in managing their health. A healthier and happier workforce will in turn increase productivity.

Differentiate your company. Extend the reach of your benefits.

Providing a truly valued employee benefit will not only improve retention but will attract the best talent to your organisation. This is a service that can reach every employee – no matter what their remit or location.

You can ensure they are only ever a few taps away from the healthcare service they need.
