Newsflash

GP & Practice Colleagues Issue 25 - 2015

Welcome.

This year we celebrated the 50th Anniversary of Nuffield Health Shrewsbury Hospital and over the summer I found myself reflecting on the years of long service that we have provided to the communities which we serve.

Today, the high quality of care and the friendly atmosphere are comparable to the days when the doors first opened, but the procedures and services that we can now offer, including MRI Scans, digital imaging and key-hole surgery, illustrate how far healthcare has progressed.

Here's to the next 50 years!

New Matron joins Nuffield Health Shrewsbury Hospital

After 16 years serving as a nursing officer in the Princess Mary's Royal Air Force Nursing Service, Samantha (Sam) Tyler has now taken up the position of Matron at Nuffield Health Shrewsbury Hospital.

Sam says, "I am very excited to be joining the senior management team at Nuffield Health Shrewsbury Hospital and I am looking forward to the challenges and opportunities ahead.

The hospital has recently celebrated its 50th Anniversary and it is a very exciting time to join the team.

The hospital has an outstanding reputation within the community for its high quality of care and low infection rates which is due to the dedication of the team.

Within my new role, I will ensure that we continue to maintain the highest levels of clinical care and patient safety.

I very much look forward to maintaining the good relationships that exist with the local consultants, GP community and NHS Trusts".

Sam joined the RAF as an Intensive Care Nurse and undertook numerous operational deployments including Kosovo and Afghanistan. She served on the Aeromed Squadron and was team leader for the Critical Care Air Support Team – which involved transferring critically ill patients within the theatre of operations or back to the UK.

Sam left the RAF as a Wing Commander, where her last role was within the Inspector General's Department which oversaw the governance and assurance for the delivery of healthcare within the Defence and Medical Services.

Mike Haffenden, Hospital Director said "We are delighted that Sam has joined the hospital team and we wish her every success in her new role".
